Select Poetry.

From the Bright side.

A PRETTY NAME.

BY BLANCHE.

Fast and feathery, soft and light
Came the beautiful snow one night,
And robed the earth in a mantle of white.
It sprinkled the forest, the meadow, the dale;
It covered the hill, the mountain, the vale
And bribed the brooklet, to tell the tale.
Beautiful, beautiful snow!

The boughs of the pine and the fir bent low
Under the weight of the beautiful snow,
While in the breezes they rocked to and fro
This world of beauty was hidden from sight,
Through all the long hours of dark, silent night,
Till at last came the dawn of fair morning light,
Revealing the Beautiful snow;

The sun brightly shining o'er all the fair scene,
Revealed diamonds and pearls more sparkling, I ween,
Than ever bedecked the brow of a queen.
The little ones, too, were wild with delight
As, fresh from their slumbers, they gazed at the sight,
And twinkling with smiles, their eyes became bright,
At sight of the beautiful snow!

"C, mamma," cried Lulu, "Is this the bright side
You said we should have when you took us to ride,
And I was sitting right close by your side?
Only just last night the garden was there,
So dismal and dark; not a flower was bare,
But now, O, so bright! for what else do I care?
Beautiful, beautiful snow!"

"O no, darling Lulu, the BRIGHT SIDE I meant,
Is a nice little paper; for the wee ones 'tis sent,
Showing how to be happy, and good, and content;
How to have the heart pure, the face always bright,
And shedding on all a beautiful light,
Like the snow-clad earth so lovely and white."

If more of this paper, dear reader, you'd know
Send your name and your money to Alden & Co.,
A specimen free, fifty cents for a year,
Chicago's the place, by next mail you will hear,
And see it, pretty as snow.

Select Miscellany.

Legal Tender.

(From Harper's Weekly.)

In 1866, during the Presidential term of Andrew Johnson, Congress passed an act that no vacancy in the office of Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States should be filled by appointment until the number of Associate Justices had been reduced to six, and that thereafter the Court should consist of a Chief Justice and six Associates, any four of whom should constitute a quorum.

At the time of the passage of this act the Court was composed of eight Associate Justices, in addition to Chief Justice Chase, viz: Justices Wayne, Grier, Clifford, Nelson, Davis, Swayne, Miller and Field; and it was generally supposed, as three of the Court were of great age—Wayne, Grier and Nelson—that vacancies were likely to happen within the term of the then incumbent of the Presidency, and that they would be filled temporarily by persons in harmony with him. It was deemed expedient to provide against this contingency by declaring that, if the vacancies did not exceed two, they should not be filled. Justice Wayne, who had been assigned to a southern Circuit, died in 1867, and in February of this year Justice Grier resigned.

After the elevation of General Grant to the Chief Magistracy, the power to fill vacancies up to the original number was restored, and nominations and appointments for this purpose were made of Judges Strong and Bradley, who have entered upon the discharge of their duties. During the pendency of these nominations, the legal-tender case was decided; Justices Clifford, Nelson and Field uniting with the Chief Justice against Justices Davis, Swayne and Miller.

As this case involved the right to exercise a power in war which Congress and the Administration had declared to be essential to success, it would seem that it ought to have been reserved until the Court was full. So far as concerns Chief Justice Chase, who had urged Congress with great earnestness to pass the bill, there were strong reasons for delay so that he might not be required to declare as void an act which he, as the chief financial officer at the time, had induced Congress to pass. The position would have regarded as painful by those who wished to avoid the suspicion of extraordinary motives.

The relations of the Court to Congress as prescribed in the Constitution, constitutes a powerful reason for the utmost delicacy in the treatment of questions of Congressional power. The authority to adjudicate upon them belongs to its appellate jurisdiction which the Court was to "have," "with such exceptions and under such regulations as the Congress shall make." The Court itself, when presided over by Chief Justice Marshall, decided, in the familiar case reported in 34 Branch, that although the Constitution specifies the subjects of its jurisdiction, yet when Congress in an affirmative enumeration of the matters upon which the Court might act on appeals, specified some of those mentioned in the Constitution, and omitted others, it amounted to a regulation imperative in the exclusion of those omitted.

Far be it from us to wish to limit in any degree the perfect independence of the judiciary, as we regard this freedom as the sheet-anchor of our safety; but prudence requires that a tribunal subjected so materially to the power of Congress by the fundamental law should continue to use the same delicacy in questions affecting Congressional power which governed the court when Marshall presided over its deliberations. Its dignity and usefulness will always be promoted by extreme caution. The exhibition of this care will command public confidence, and prevent extremities in providing for the regulations which Congress is empowered to make.

We wish that the Attorney General could have been saved the necessity of a motion to open one of its decisions, on the ground that the Court was not full when it was made. The attention of partisans is warmly directed to the contest, and even the foreign press has spoken of the attempt as unusual and indefensible. But as the decision involves the very essence of the war power, and subjects the country to peril in case of a new war, reargument of the question, so that it may be considered by the full Court, is required for public security.

The affirmance of the Kentucky decision against the Legal Tender act, in its application to pre-existing debts, is supported by many, on the ground that it is a step in the direction of specie payments. In nearly every loyal State the act was declared legal, by the highest State courts, in its application to such debts, on the ground that Congress had power to determine what means, which promoted the end in view, were "necessary and proper" for conducting war, and that it was for courts to consider the question of necessity and propriety as settled if it was a means, and was not prohibited.

In the argument of the case at Washington, the action of the British Parliament in creating a precedent for this legislation was entirely overlooked. The act of 1797, which legalized the refusal of the Bank of England to pay its bills in coin, and prevented the arrest of debtors who could show that they had tendered them, was followed, in 1814, by another act, making it a misdemeanor to pass such bills for less than their nominal value, or gold for more. This act also provided that, in case of distraint for rent, after such bills had been tendered, but the law left the creditor to his other remedies.

These acts have a direct bearing, because they applied to pre-existing debts of the most sacred character, and produced a forced circulation of the bills of the Bank of England, to the utter exclusion of gold and silver for a period of over twenty years. The policy of the act continued for seven or eight years after the war.

The Parliament of Great Britain passed the act, and ultimately provided for its repeal. Both of these are legislative functions; and it is a great error to suppose that we can with safety rely upon a court to employ a legislative function.

Through The Sea.

The following excellent article we copy from the Philadelphia Press of the 27th inst. It should be read by every christian man, or believer in the Bible, and in the justice of God in the free and highly favored land. Read, reflect, think!

"We often read in Sacred Writ the inspiring story of the passage of the Red Sea, and wish perhaps that we could have been there to have seen the hand of God visibly outstretched in behalf of Freedom—the chariot wheels broken—the horsemen overthrown—the walled waters. We think, perhaps that had we been there we should have shared in the exultant triumph—that we should have prayed with Moses and burst into song with Miriam. Some of us would and some of us would not, and the lines would have been drawn there much as they are now; for not God, nor race, nor nationality, but our own hearts and feelings, would have drawn them.

Yesterday we saw a whole people pass through deep waters, come out of the Land of Bondage and reach the shore, just as truly, and just as wonderfully as ever of old in Egypt. The children of Israel, through trial and tribulation, after many years of servitude and suffering, were led at last by the hand of God into the full enjoyment of the civil and political liberty of their time. To-day the colored people of America, through the furnace heat of war and social and political convulsion, after generations of slavery and oppression, enter into the possession of all the rights of citizens of the United States—a citizenship which we believe to be the fruition of civil and political liberty as far as history has unfolded it. The great difference between the children of Israel and the new children of our common mother is this, that the deliverance of the latter is greater than that of the former in just as much as civil liberty now is something better and greater than it ever was before. Do we rejoice, or do we not? Do we see with thankfulness and praise the blast of the nostrils of the Lord as the waters are gathered together, or do we not? Are we to-day with those who chant and pray; who go out with the timbrel and the dances, or do we stand like trembling Egyptians—trembling, but with the hardened heart of Pharaoh?

The parallel between the history of Emancipation in our time, which culminated in the memorial celebration of yesterday, and the old story of the Red Sea, is too strong and minute to be merely the work of imagination or argument.—The two stories are but different revelations across the gap of centuries of the power of God interposed in behalf of Human Freedom, and their startling similarity of incident and detail is the lesson of the day.

The slavery of our day was as grievous and bitter as in the land of Egypt, for it was the bondage of caste. We let our bondmen go, too, only after the plagues from heaven had fallen on us and loosened our unwilling grasp—the rivers turned to blood, vice and crime swarming as flies, the thick darkness, and finally the very sacrifice of our first-born. The slaves to-day, as of old, were "not through the land of the Philistines, although that was near, but about through the way of the Wilderness."

To-day, as in Egypt, the deliverance on the part of the old masters was not submitted too graciously, nor with good heart. The slave people whom God was leading were followed up. Of old, it was Pharaoh, with hardened heart, the dukes of Edom, and the mighty men of Moab who pursued; to-day it is the Democratic party which gathers up in itself and represents all that is left of the broken power of Slavery, the pride, passion, and ignorance of the land. Here let us hope the parallel ceases. The people who have passed the sea in our day enter at once into the Promised Land. Before them, as far as human eye can see, do not lie the Wilderness nor the bitter waters of Marah.

The celebration of yesterday, which emphasizes this great event of our day, was in every way a success. The colored people of Philadelphia made a most favorable impression on their fellow-citizens, and fully vindicated all that their friends have claimed for them. It is safe to say that even the bulk of the Democracy will join in commendation of their behaviour on this critical occasion. As good citizes—orderly, sober, intelligent—they have proved their right to rank with any other class. It is also safe to say that no political demonstration of equal size ever took place in Philadelphia with less danger to the peace and property of the citizens.

Seeing how well the colored people have merited their great franchise, how worthily they have worn the new honors of citizenship, we seize this occasion to press home on the young men of Pennsylvania the lesson of the scene. Yesterday was the end of the Democratic party. It has passed out of history by the very law of history, and can no more claim the allegiance of an intelligent man. This party hardened its heart and followed after the people whom God was leading, and its fate is already written once in history: "And Israel saw the Egyptians dead upon the sea shore."

A Good One for Smokers.

An aged negress, whose imminent piety has secured for her an extensive reputation, in walking her usual rounds of visits, dropped in upon a neighbor who was equally well known as a temperance man and a hater of tobacco.

After being courteously received, the negress pulled from her pocket a long pipe, and commenced smoking some very "Union" tobacco, to the infinite disgust of her host. The man maintained his composure several minutes, but the fumes and smoke became too powerful for him, and rising from his chair he said:

"Aunt Chloe, do you think you are a Christian?"

"Yes, brudder, I specks I is."

"Do you believe in the Bible, aunty?"

"Yes brudder."

"Do you know there is a passage in the Scriptures which declares that nothing unclean shall inherit the kingdom of heaven?"

"Yes, I've heerd of it."

"Do you believe it?"

"Yes."

"Well, Chloe, you can not enter the kingdom of heaven. Because there is nothing so unclean as the breath of a smoker. What do you say to that?"

"Why I specks to have my breff be kind me when I go to heaven."

An exchange says: "A fighting man has been employed on this paper. He weighs eight hundred pounds. His wrists are the very tools of death; his hair is short; his eyes are black: his boots are No. 12. O, he is a monster, this fighting man of ours! He goes for men like an ant does for green cheese. He was never thrashed. O, he is a whale! He ate seven cans of oysters at our office the other night, and called for more. He's the heaviest instrument of total and eternal punishment on record! Come at us, ye lean and lank, overgrown specimens of humanity; spit on our boots if you dare; slide down our cellar door if you can, and if our Wallapus don't everlastingly go for you, then size and heft have nothing in them."

There is said to have been of late years a marked 'recrease in the number of executions in France, owing to the reluctance of juries to convict.

Try, Try, Try Again.

"Oh, I shall never do it!"—And with that, Freddy Smith flung down his tools, and the ship he had half made. I was going to say, too, that he had shed a few tears of vexation; but I remember Freddy was ten years old and though crying babyish; so we must suppose a sudden cold came on just then, and made his eyes water a little.

"What is it you will never do, my son?" asked his mamma, coming into the room as he spoke.

"Oh, it's this tiresome boat, mamma. The wood won't cut!" said Freddy, despairingly.

Mrs. Smith sat down, and called Lim to her side. Minnie, his little sister, came too.

"How long have you been working at your boat, Freddy?"

"Half an hour, mamma," replied Freddy. His mother smiled.

Have you never heard the old saying, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try, try again?" You should hear the story I heard yesterday."

"A story! Oh what was it, mamma?" said Minnie. Her mother was willing to repeat it, for she wished Freddy to learn the lesson it taught.

"I will tell it you," she said, "pretty much as I heard it, only leaving out a word here and there. You must fancy a gentleman is talking."

Mrs. Smith then proceeded as follows:

"My first desire, when I was apprenticed, was to make a workbox for my grandmother. She had been kind to me since my mother's death, which took place when I was quite young. I tried to see as many workboxes as possible, and at last, after my consultation with some of my fellow-workmen, I settled the shape and size. I had very little money, and was working thirteen hours a day,—even more in summer,—and I had to snatch time for making my box before and after meals. Some repairs had been going on inside Windsor Castle, and a quantity of old oak had been sold for firewood, I thought it would be a fine thing if I could make my box of a piece of wood taken out of the Queen's castle. So, for a shilling, one of my mates sold me a bit. This I split into veneers; that is, very thin slices; no easy thing to do. Then I bought some pieces of ebony, tulip-wood, and satin-wood, and I had the idea that if, with different colored bits, I could represent on the lid of the box a shepherd dog that had often been a favorite companion of mine, I should have done something that would make me famous in my native village. But the dog was a failure; and with much regret, I had to take him out. No one who ever went about to build a house, and found it would cost more money than he possessed, could have been more puzzled than I was over the lid of my box. I was determined to ornament it in some way.

"About that time I heard that a new kind of wood, remarkable for its beauty, had just been brought to this country, and I thought a piece of it would be just the thing to finish my lid with. So I saved up my money, until I had two shillings and threepence halfpenny of my own; and then on Whit-Monday, (which was the only holiday I had in the year, except Christmas day,) I started at daybreak on my way to ——, with a light heart and my hard earned pence; although I knew very little either of the place where the wood could be got, or the man who sold it. That day I walked 36 miles, spent two shillings in fancy woods, and was at my work by five o'clock next morning.

"Well, I spent my leisure time for three years upon that box; and what with alterations, and so-called improvements, it was very different from what I meant it to be. In some places the veneer was scraped away by constant rubbing, and a fresh ornament was needed. If there had been an 'Exhibition' then, I am sure I would have sent my workbox, so much did I think of it. That piece of wood kept me out of many scrapes; I was too busy about it to get into mischief as so many lads do."

"There, Fred, what do you think of that? Three years over a workbox, and walking thirty-six miles to ——, and back, to get some wood for it, and at his master's shop next morning by five o'clock!"

Fred made no answer just then; he was thinking over what he heard. His mamma continued:—

"That boy is now a gentleman, and is employed by the Government to give lectures to workingmen to teach them useful things. You see what he thought 'try, try, try again,' meant." And so saying, Mrs. Smith left the room.

Freddy did not say anything, but he quietly went back to his boat; and, by obeying the rule he had just heard, he at last completed it very nicely. He has not yet forgotten the story of the workbox.

On a tombstone in Germany, there is painted a red ox, with tail elevated and head sunk, evidently on the point of running his horns into a chalk white individual who is pressed up against a rock. Below the picture is this inscription:—

"By the thrust of ox's horn
Come I into heaven's bourne;
All so quickly did I die,
Wife and children leave must I;
But in eternity rest I now,
All through thee, thou wild beast, thou!"

BELLEFONTE, PA.,

Wednesday Morning, May 4, 1870.

ADVERTISING.—The Bellefonte Republican has now a Circulation as Large, if not Larger, than the Democratic Watchman, and fully 900 more than any other Republican paper published in the County. Our Merchants and Business Men will please make a note of this.

BARGAINS! BARGAINS!!

The Bellefonte "Republican" and the "American Agriculturist."

We are now prepared to offer to the people of Centre county, a Great Bargain for the coming year. It is this: To every subscriber who will send us $3.00, in advance, we will send the

and the

for one year. Of the REPUBLICAN we need not speak at present.

The American Agriculturist is a work that no farmer, nor house keeper should be without. As a farm-journal we think it has no superior in the world—certainly none in the United States. It is issued monthly, and the subscription price is $1.50 per annum. By clubing with the REPUBLICAN you save fifty cents, and secure more good reading matter than you can obtain in any other way for the same money.

We hope the reading public will avail themselves of this very liberal offer.

It is stated that there is an almost certain prospect of an Indian war.—Twenty thousand Sioux are on the war path. Troops are being hurried to the front to meet the crisis. Besides the Fifteenth and Seventeenth regiments of infantry, ordered to Sioux City, the recruiting officer in Washington is ordered to send every available recruit at once to Fort Leaven worth.

General Sherman, with several of his staff, will leave this week on an inspecting tour through Montana and the other Western Territories.

A BRIGHT FUTURE.—The increase of our exports over our imports trade is one of the impressing and gratifying fruits relating to the balance of trade. For this several causes are assigned. There is a less active market for foreign goods, which causes imports to fall off a little, and there is a brisk demand abroad for our wheat, cotton, petroleum, cheese, and some other products. In 1867 we shipped about four million hundred weight of wheat and 723,000 cwt. of flour to Great Britain; in 1869 we sent three times as much: in 1868 we sent less than 17 000 tons, and so with some other articles. The effect of the increased exportation of our production has been of late to check the demand for American securities abroad, which have fallen off slightly in price. It is worth noticing also that our government bonds now take precedent in price of nearly all American securities in the stock markets of London and Frankfort.

Unseated Lands—School Tax.

We would call the attention of our readers, as well as land owners and the business community generally, to the list of "Unseated Lands" as advertised, by authority, in the Democratic Watchman. We ask the question—Why are so many of these tracts advertised as unknown? Why are not the warrantee name, or the owners name published? Has the Ring and a few of its pets, selected this method of deceiving the real owners of the land, selling their land as unknown, and buying it in themselves? We cannot account for the publication of so many tracts as unknown in any other way. Perhaps it is their intention to cheat the townships out of the school-tax due them, as they were in the habit of doing prior to the year 1855 and 1856, when the Republicans came into power for the first time in this county.

For many years prior to 1856. Patton township for instance, had been receiving for school taxes on unseated lands from $25 to $50 every two years. In 1856, under a Republican Treasurer they received $232,00. Taylor tp. had been receiving from $12 to $20 every two years under Democratic rule; but in 1856 the township received $190,00. Rush received for school tax, in 1856, $625.00 instead of $200 as in 1852. Snowshoe received school tax in 1856, $860,00 against $160,00 in 1852, and so we might go on all through the townships in which the Unseated Lands are situated. The road tax was about the same amount in all of the above named townships in that same year. So great had been the carelessness of the County Treasurer's in collecting the unseated land taxes, that in some instances they remained unpaid as far back as the year 1845, leaving it for a Republican Treasurer to settle up this business and collect in 1856 over $1,100. For the truth of these facts and figures, we refer the curious, the doubting, indeed all the people, to the Records in the hands of the officers of the above named townships.

Let Mr. Meek and the Ring satisfactorily explain the above to their friends and the over-burdened tax payers of the county, and at the same time we most respectfully solicit on the part of the Ring's organ, an explanation as to the publication of so many tracts of unseated lands as unknown.

A Step in the Right Direction.

Our animadversions on the custodians of the County finances, has had the desired effect for the present, as we are informed by the Reporter, that the County Commissioners have "offered a premium of $10 to the Collector who would be the first to settle up his duplicate for the year 1869." The Reporter then adds, "the premium was taken by Mr. Joseph K. Weaver, of Miles, who proved his efficiency as a Collector, by settling off his duplicate on Friday of last week."

It gives us pleasure to herald this statement to the taxpayers of the county, and Mr. Joseph K. Weaver, of Miles, deserves "the premium." and should be continued in that office. Moreover the taxpayers of Miles township have reason to be proud of their Collector, and of themselves, for their promptness, while it proves our assertion that the people are ready and willing to pay their taxes, and also proves that if the taxes do not reach the Treasury, the fault and culpability is with the Commissioners, Treasurer, and their pet collectors.

Let us have more Joseph K. Weaver's as collectors, and our county debt will soon be paid off, taxes lessened, and illegal and usurious interest prevented. We have no spleen to vent personally on the Commissioners; but we do want them to perform their whole duty, which they have not done to the taxpayers, or the county would not be in debt by their own showing, nor would they be compelled to go to the Brokers shambles to borrow money at 12 per cent. to meet the necessary demands.

Let them compel their collectors to pay over the $37,144 98 due and in their hands for 1868 and previous years. Will they do it?

Watchman Gammon.

The Watchman, still yells "stop thief" in its efforts to cover up the derilicions of the County Commissioners, Treasurer and defaulting Collectors and attempts to raise a false issue of who did really pay taxes. This plea will not answer. Collectors may individually, be indebted to taxpayers, and agree to set off the taxes against the debt, due before the Collector was appointed, which is the case referred to in the Watchman, so far as "Bill Brown" is concerned and which will not be denyed by the Collectors. If they do we have the proof on hand.

But what has this to do with our expose of the County Auditors? Does it explain the duplicity and connivance of the Commissioners in their County expenditures and receipts? No: It does no such thing. And they will, yet, find, to their sorrow and shame that the Meek-paid yell of "stop thief" will not satisfy the honest and over burthened tax payers of the County, whose honest indignation is now running over in consequence of the extravagance and mismanagement (to say nothing more), of the Ring. There is a day of reckoning coming. Beware ye gormorants.

For the Republican

The Court House Ring."

These delectable gentlemen had quite a time to get an Assessor to their liking in Huston township. You know that by a blunder of our law-makers there were no Assessors elected at the last election. The Commissioners wrote on to the old Assessor of this twp., to know if he would serve, stating that he need not if he did not desire to do so. He wrote back that he did not wish to serve, and recommended a man that he thought qualified and would serve the office; but alas, he was a black Republican—a nigger worshipper—rejoices over the ratification of the 15th Amendment, &c.—That would never do, so they sent it to one of his neighbors, a Democrat, (and with all a clever fellow,) but he refused to accept and sent it to another Democrat, the bell-sheep of the party in this township. He also refused.

So Mr. Ring came, up and understand that he was quite out of humor that these men, members of his party—refused to obey the demands of their would-be masters. He was compelled, because he could do no better, to give the appointment to a Republican, but to one that has been a resident but a few weeks.

But in order to wreak his vengeance on this Republican twp., he instructed his appointee to value the property 16⅔ per cent. higher than they are doing in other townships.

The Assessor of Patton twp., (and I presume all others except Huston tp.) have been instructed to value property at one-third of its real value. whilst the Assessor of Huston has been instructed to value property at one-half its real value.

Why this discrimination? Is it not because of the political status of the township? Is it not because of the large Republican majorities that have been here for many years? If this is not the cause, then what is it? But hiss, ye serpents! shoot forth your forked tongues! Strike home your poisonous fangs, it will but recoil on your own guilty heads. You may wrongfully take a few dollars out of our pockets; but you will loose a few votes and a few honest members from your corrupt party.

LOGUET.

A memorial meeting of members of the Methodist Episcopal Church was held in Wesley Chapel, Cincinnati, Sunday night, to express the sense of the loss the church has sustained in the death of Bishops Kingsley and Thomson.

For the Republican.

Recollections of 1861-2—No. 4.

DEAR REPUBLICAN:

You last saw us on the cars en route for Washington. We encountered no obstacle to our progress, except in Baltimore. We were obliged to march across the city, from one depot to the other. In doing so, we were obliged to surmount mountains of bread, and wade through rivers of coffee. How different the reception of the 6th Massachusetts a few months before.

We arrived at Washington on a bright Sunday morning. Prouder boys never marched up that grand old Pennsylvania Avenue, than were we that day. You've heard of flags "waving proudly," hav'nt you? Well that's what our flag did that morning. And that band—you should have heard it "speil." I say speil, because it was a dutch band—and it did not play—it spelled. Why we marched so well, and put on such airs, that we were asked a number of times if we were not regulars. But we were not; but some of us were sharp-shooters! I almost forgot to say that our fine music brought the ladies to the doors and windows. Our boys were much annoyed by this, and highly indignant at being thus exposed to so many batteries of eyes, but the beauties would gaze on them, and what could the boys do?

On Kalorama's hill, outside the city, we halted for a rest in a beautiful grove, near which was a large stone building. The boys had disposed of themselves comfortably, in the shade, and were in high glee, when a messenger came into our midst with the startling intelligence that that stone building was a small-pox hospital. We went went away from there. I do not say we went in a hurry. We simply went—that's all.

Went into camp on Kalorama. No sooner had we got our tents pitched and camp in order, than the boys made a run on Washington. Scarcely any of us had ever seen the Capitol before, and wasn't we going to see it when we could? We was—we did! And we saw the Patent Office, and the Treasury, and the White House. We were deeply interested in the Treasury Department. That's where our pay was to come from; and we saw the Smithsonian, and the Monument, and Long Bridge, and—and—the elephant. But I'll tell you what we never did do. We never went to the market to steal sweet potatoes and early vegetables.—I know that none of the boys ever did this, for I often asked them, and they said they did'nt. I know that soldiers "never told falsehoods," for the officers sometimes told them the story of George Washington and his little hatchet, and I always noticed that the boys were deeply affected by it.

There was a great deal of poor whiskey in Washington those days. The boys knew there was too much of it there for Washington's good, and they set about to carry it away, for the good of Washington. They did not care anything about the whiskey, but their duty was to defend Washington, not only from Rebels, but from inundation. They invariably threw away all the whiskey they could, and drank the balance. I have an indistinct recollection of sundry knapsack drills, and more or less guard house in connection with the bad whiskey business.

Among other things I saw in Washington, I think I once saw a Brigadier General! Won't be positive, but think I saw one.

We soon left Kalorama and pitched our "sibley's" on Meridian Hill. Who that ever camped on Meridian will ever forget the grand view afforded of Washington, of the Potomac, of Alexandria and the country on the Virginia side of the river, away out toward Fairfax. Looking out over this country in daylight, we could see thousands of white tents composing a hundred different camps. At night the whole horizon was lit up with campfires, around which gathered the brave and true from every State, ready to be offered up on the alter of their country's freedom. "Brave boys were they." Alas how many of them are no more. Those camp-fires are long since extinguished, and with their light went out the light of thousands of lives. Heroic sacrifice! Grand triumph!

While camped on Meridian, we had a rather serious bit of insubordination in our regiment. By some carelessness or mistake, our regiment, nine hundred strong, drew the rations of the 56th New York, a much smaller regiment, for several days, while the New Yorkers drew ours. By this arrangement they were enabled to feast, and we compelled to fast. At this time we had not learned to live on short allowance, and thinking that some dishonest commissary or Colonel, was speculating at our expense, a large number of the regiment refused to do further duty until our rations came in proper amounts. Capt. Geo. Corman's Company, "F," took the head in this insurrection, and nearly all, if not every member of the company was placed in the guard house. Nelson Lucas was prominent among the determined spirits of the movement, and the Colonel caused a ball and chain to be placed on his leg, an act which brought the wrath of the regiment on the Colonel's head, for we all knew "Nels" Lucas to be one of the best men in the regiment. For days that chain remained on Lucas' leg, and he was compelled to sweep the streets of the camp. I'll tell you, directly, how this affair wrought out the humiliation of the Colonel.

Our camp was visited daily by venders of fruits and pies. One day an elderly woman came with pies, of which the boys bought freely and ate with satisfaction. After many of the pies had been bought and eaten, some one discovered, by her veil being blown aside or otherwise, that the woman's face bore unmistakable signs of a very recent recovery from the small pox.—Those who had not yet eaten their pies, threw them away; but what were the boys to do, who had already eaten their pies? Poor fellows, how spotted some of them looked. I have already narrated our escape from the small-pox hospital, and now we had eaten the small pox sure. Some of the unfortunate imagined themselves very sick, and it was really amusing to see them endeavoring to turn themselves wrong side out, in order to get rid of the obnoxious pie. Aside from the terrible fright, I believe no evil resulted from the visit of this pie-woman.

One day a pompous young staff officer came riding, hot haste, toward our regimental guard line, with the evident intention of riding directly across the camp regardless of lines. An old German happened to be walking the "beat" the officer was approaching, and called out, three or four times, "halt!" The officer rode on, not even checking up his horse. The guard, however, checked him by lounging his bayonet into the animals shoulder.—The bayonet broke off, and about six inches remained in his flesh until taken out by our humane surgeon. Was that officer angry? I think I may safely say he was. He called the corporal of the guard, the officer of the guard, the Colonel—everybody. In a few minutes an immense crowd had gathered about the scene of the fray. The Col. came and the officer threatened vengeance on guard, Colonel and regiment. Paying no attention to what the wrathy officer said, the Col. asked if any one present saw the occurrence. Having witnessed the whole affair, I made my best salute and gave the Col. a plain statement of the case, where upon he turned on his heel and went to his quarters.

Oh, ye Gods of War, did'nt I catch "Hail Columbia" from that much abused staff officer. He called me a gentleman, or something of the kind, and asked me to go to a warmer climate for my health. I declined the invitation, but offered to accompany him outside the guard line, where we could probably make things warm enough for our mutual comfort.

I can account for my personal bravery on this occasion, only by the fact that I had probably five hundred "backers," and my adversary had none. It is amusing how bold men are under some circumstances. I am glad to say no blood was spilled on this memorable occasion. This is probably owing to the fact that my father, an elderly gentleman, whose name I bear, and for whom I entertain a great deal of respect, intimated that I had probably better go to my quarters. I went.

Gentle reader—I don't know whether you are gentle or not, but I will call you gentle because I want to ask a favor. If you are disposed to find fault with me for referring to myself in the above paragraph, you must pardon me on the ground that these are only "personal recollections," and not a history of the war.

But here comes an order to pull down our tents and prepare to march.—Don't know where we are going, but if you will wait till my next letter I shall probably be able to tell you.

Truly Yours,
EM QUAD.

CHICAGO, April 25, 1870.

Ex-Governor Curtin.

We clip the following notice of our fellow townsmen from the Pittsburg Commercial of April 30th:

"Ex-Governor Curtin, our Minister to Russia, appears to enjoy in a high degree the favor and confidence of the Russian government. Gortschakoff, the Russian premier, as a mark of high favor, communicated to him the pardon of two Poles, Mademir and Josephine Janecki, nephew and niece of Pulaski, our revolutionary hero, who having been mixed up with the late revolutionary movement in Russia were condemned to expiate their offense in prison, but through the intercession of Minister Curtin and the sympathy manifested by other Americans they were thus released. Minister Curtin has also received warm expressions of gratitude from several Jewish religious Associations in America and Europe for his sympathy in behalf of their co religionists in Russia, whose persecutions there have been greatly relieved through his influence. He has also taken great interest in giving information to prominent Americans at home regarding the graves of several of their relatives and friends who perished in the Russian service during the Crimean war."

GENERAL IRWIN, the new State Treasurer, says the Commercial will assume the duties of his office during the present week. By the new Treasury law he will be required to give ten sureties, aggregating $500,000, for the faithful performance of his duties. Precisely what some other portions of the two laws passed last winter concerning the duties of the Treasurer and the management of the public moneys mean, is not so clear to many minds after patient study. These laws were passed within a few days of each other, and it is a question whether or not they repeal each other's provisions. No doubt the Legislature intended to meet the case squarely and apply a corrective to the long existing abuse in this branch of the State Government, but it is not clear that it did not in some essential respect make a bad job of it. General Irwin, no doubt, will act up to the intention of the lawmakers, so far as it can be ascertained, under the best advice he can obtain.

DISASTER.

Fifty Persons Killed and over One Hundred Wounded.

Representative Men the Victims—

Removing the Bodies—Great Excitement Prevailing.

To-day to be Observed as a Day of General Mourning.

[By Telegraph to the Phil'a. Press]

RICHMOND, April 27.—A terrible calamity occurred here this morning. The floor of the Court of Appeals in the State Capitol gave way and precipitated the hundreds therein assembled to hear the decision in the Mayoralty case of Ellison and Cahoon, upon the Conservative caucus then sitting in the Hall of the House of Delegates below. It is impossible to ascertain the extent of the injuries at this hour.

Among the killed are P. H. Aylett, a distinguished lawyer; Dr. J. B. Brock, reporter for the Enquirer and Examiner; Samuel Eaton, clerk of Mayor Cahoon; Captain William A. Charters, Chief of the Fire Department; N. P. Howard, a lawyer; Ash Levy, a Richmond Merchant: Charles Watton, of the Danville Railroad Hugh Hutchison, Lewis N. Webb, of this city;—Schofield, brother of Gen. Schofield; R. H. Maucy, Jr., Senator Bland (colored), and Powhattan Roberts.

It is supposed that twenty members of the State Legislature are killed and wounded. The judges of the Court of Appeals all escaped unhurt. Ex-Governor Wells was badly injured. L. H. Chandler, counsel for Cahoon in the Mayoralty case, was injured. James Mason and Judge Meredith, counsel for Ellison, were also badly hurt.

About 200 persons were hurt by the accident. The greatest excitement prevails, and hundreds of persons in the Capitol Square are weeping and wailing as the dead and dying are brought out of the building. Gov. Walker escaped unhurt, though on the floor of the court room at the time.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has any thing won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although called Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

ROSADALIS.

THE GREAT AMERICAN health RESTORER, purifies the blood and cures Scrofula, Syphilis, Skin diseases, Rheumatism, Diseases of Women, and all Chronic Affections of the blood, Liver and Kidneys. Recommended by the Medical Faculty and many thousands of our best citizens. Read the testimony of Physicians and patients who have used Rosadalis: send for our Rosadalis Guide to Health Book, or Almanac for this year, which we publish for gratuitous distribution; it will give you much valuable information.

Dr. R. W. Carr, of Baltimore, says:

I take pleasure in recommending your Rosadalis as a very powerful alterative. I have seen it used in two cases with happy results—one in a case of secondary syphilis, in which the patient pronounced himself cured after having taken five bottles of your medicine. The other is a case of scrofula of long standing, which is rapidly improving under its use, and the indications are that the patient will soon recover. I have carefully examined the formula by which your Rosadalis is made, and find it an excellent compound of alterative ingredients.

Dr. Sparks, of Nicholasville, Ky., says he has used Rosadalis in cases of Scrofula and Secondary Syphilis with satisfactory results—as a cleanser of the Blood I know no better remedy.

Samuel G. McFadden, Murfreesboro', Tenn., says:

I have used seven bottles of Rosadalis, and am entirely cured of Rheumatism; send me four bottles, as I wish it for my brother, who has scrofulous sore eyes.

Benjamin Bechtol, of Lima, Ohio, writes, I have suffered for twenty years with an inveterate eruption over my whole body; a short time since I purchased a bottle of Rosadalis and it effected a perfect cure.

Rosadalis is sold by F. P. Green and Druggests generally.

JOB WORK.—Posters, Circulars, Bill Heads, Cards, Paper Books, Job Work of all kinds, neatly executed at the REPUBLICAN OFFICE, at reasonable rates.

HOTEL.—The hotel at Hublersburg is now kept by our Democratic friend, Mr. Michael Hubler, who is accommodating, and who sets a good table with plenty on it.

MR. BEST, Merchant, of Jacksonville is contemplating a visit to the city to lay in a new stock of goods. The good judgment of this gentleman is an assurance that the goods will be of the very best kind.

GOOD NEWS.—We have been informed by Mr. Henry McEwen's physicians, that he is fast recovering, and will soon be able to return to his vocation. His many friends will rejoice to hear this almost unexpected news.

SUCCESS.—Dr. VanDersloot, of Nittany Hall, has entered upon his professional duties in place of Dr. Holloway who goes West. Dr. Vandersloot is a good physician, and we bespeak for him a full share of patronage.

THE Academy at Jacksonville now under the supervision of Prof. Sam'l Otto, is in a prosperous condition and the present term is one indicative of success. Persons desiring to attend school in the country cannot do better than by selecting this one; but one week of the present term has yet expired so you will not be too late yet.

TRUTH.—The newspape is emphatically the poor man's lyceum, his library, and his best instructor. The newspaper brings to him a vast treasure of information, which he cannot read without being a wiser and better man. It has been aptly said that a newspaper is as good as a lesson for the thoughful. Where newspapers are seen upon the table of the family circle, there will be found intelligence and virtue.

DISGRACEFUL.—Our excellent reporter in Huston twp., has sent us a very full report of a disgraceful affair which took place at "Black Oak school house on Sabbath morning, the 17th inst., our Methodist and Campbellite friends being the participants. Our reporter is a reliable man and we have no doubt of the truth of every word he communicated; but out of respect to the churches and the parties engaged we have decided to withhold the publication of said report for the present. But may we not sincerely ask "if the righteous scarcely be saved, where will the ungodly and the sinner appear?"

NEW MAP.—W. W. Ritchie, Map Publisher, of Philadelphia, is now in town making the necessary arrangements for the publishing of a new map of our Borough. The map will show streets, names of streets, lot lines, ground plat of buildings with owners names, showing the old and new corporation lines. Each Ward will be represented in separate colors—also the additions of the Messrs Valentine, Mr. Bush. Mr. Alexander and others, to the Borough, will be colored separate.

Mr. Ritchie is, we think, very much of a gentleman, full of energy, and an adept in his business. We hope our citizens will appreciate his efforts to furnish us with a useful and handsome map of our beautiful town.

CENSUS FOR CENTRE COUNTY.—As arranged in sub-divisions for the purpose of taking the Census of 1870, with the names of the Assistant Marshalls, and their Post Office address:

FIRST DIVISION—Comprising the borough of Bellefonte and the townships of Spring, Benner, Walker, Marion and Miles. Assistant Marshall, Geo. B. Campbell, Bellefonte, Pa.

SECOND DIVISION—Comprising the boroughs of Philipsburg and Unionville, and the townships of Rush, Taylor Worth, Halfmoon, Patton, Huston and Union. Assistant Marshal, Thomas M Crissman, Philipsburg, Pa.

THIRD DIVISION—Comprising the boroughs of Milesburg and Howard, and the townships of Boggs, Snow Shoe, Burnside, Howard, Curtin and Liberty. Assistant Marshal, Charles L. Greeno, Milesburg, Pa.

FOURTH DIVISION—Comprising the townships of Ferguson, Harris, Potter, Gregg, Penn and Haines. Assistant Marshal, James Dunlap, Pine Grove Mills, Pa.

ORPHAN'S SCHOOL.—During the last visit we had occasion to make, to Jacksonville, we thought it prudent to visit the Soldier's Orphan's School.

We found 107 pupils divided into three schools under the immediate control of three lady teachers.

The advance grade is taught by Miss Sallie Yearick, a good and proficient tutoress. The school is comprised of 30 pupils who are bright and intelligent. We were called on to address the school and did so and were surprised with the attention the pupils gave us—they appeared to grasp every word that was spoken.

During our stay they recited declamations and in doing so they acquitted themselves admirably.

The second grade is taught by Miss Lyde Fryberger, and numbers 35 pupils This lady is a good instructor and the attention that the pupils gave to what was going on showed their culture.

The last grade is taught by Miss Nancy Long, and numbers 42 pupils. These children are very small but were very attentive to their teacher who was endeavoring to instill, in their minds, the elements of an education.

In general the pupils are hale and hearty and are improving as well if not better than they possibly could else where.

OBITUARY.—The subject of this sketch Mr. James McCullough, of Jacksonville Centre County Penn'a., was born in Baltimore, Md., on the 5th, of Nov. A. D. 1797 and departed this life on the 11th, of April A. D. 1870, Mr. McCullough, took up his residence at Jacksonville, in 1830 when the surrounding territory, was thickly wooded and when a person could walk from one end to the other upon the trees that had been fallen by a severe storm previously.

Prior to this event he and Miss Elizabeth McEwen, of this County, were bound in the holy ordinance of matrimony, which event occurred on the 20th, of Oct. 1822. Thus he, and his wife, who survives him, lived peacably and happily together for 48 years.

He was a member of three secret organizations—Free Masons, Odd Fellows and Son's of Temperance. Of the former he was a member in good standing until the time of his death, of the second—the lodge—at Nittany Hall—broke up, in which he had arisen to the highest honor in the gift of the lodge; of the latter he was a straight and valiant member, only giving way when the lovers of alcohol, and the enemies of Temperance created such a strife in the place—Jacksonville—that the lodge was abandoned.

He lost the sight of one of his eyes by a spall from a stone striking the ball of it causing its destruction, and became entirely blind one year ago last Oct. Losing sight of the second eye, was caused by some unknown disease of the eye. During the disappearance of sight in the last eye he suffered the most excruciating pain until he could no longer see, when the pain left him. He left no heirs, that is, children, he never having been a Father. During his last illness, which lasted but a few weeks, he was attended by four Ministers who were convinced that he had "laid up treasures in heaven where moth and dust do not corrupt, and where thieves do not break through and steal."

He was one of the few that have an assurance of a future existence in a world that knows no sorrow. He was weak in body but strong in mind. He was a member of the Presbyterian church.

In his early days he was a democrat but became a Republican; and at the time of his death there was not a more staunch Republican than he.

He has two brothers and one sister living Not a blood relation waited upon him or attended his funeral. Rev. Kline, officiated at the funeral and his remains were consigned to dust in the old Presbyterian grave yard at Jacksonville, where many have been laid before who are now surrounding the throne of God. I omitted to say that he bore the appellation of uncle—he was everybody's "Uncle Jim" His wife that of aunt, for she is everybody's "Aunt Betsy."

H. O. K.

OBITUARY.—Frank G. Irwin was born in Bellefonte, Centre county, Pa., September 14, 1852. He was wounded at 8 o'clock, a. m., March 31st, and died just 36 hours after. He supposed the Indians were friendly until they fired up on him at 20 or 30 paces; the first shot struck him in the right shoulder and he fell. Two more shots were fired but did not hit him. They then advanced to him, about eight in number, stripped him, kicked and tramped on him, then fired three arrows into his body, two in his chest and one in his left arm, and then started after some other victims, two of whom they met and served in like manner. Frank then walked about half a mile towards town, when he was seen by a Mr. Ward who carried him into town. The bullet and arrows were carefully and skillfully extracted by Dr. Harrison, and all that love and humanity could do to relieve his intense suffering was lavishly bestowed as you may suppose. Nothing short of the power of God could make a man, let alone a child, forget the throes of physical anguish he suffered. Yet he told his parents that it was nothing—then looking up, smiled—he said he was going to see the face of his Father in Heaven. His temperament was so even that nothing seemed to ruffle him. Kind to everybody, and every brute that came in his way. But especially did his parents and sister feel and enjoy these estimable traits in his character.—South Iass News.

PENNSYLVANIA STATE SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.—The annual Convention, for the year 1870, will be held at Harrisburg, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, June 14, 15 and 16. George H. Stuart, Esq., is expected to preside. Each Sunday School in the State is invited to send two or more delegates. Pastors of Churches, Superintendents of Sunday Schools, and prominent Sunday School workers from all parts of the State are invited to attend and participate.

Our Sunday School brethren from other States are also cordially welcomed It is requested that the names of those who expect to attend shall be sent to Rev. Thos. H. Robinson, or John M Sayford, Secretary, on or before the first day of June, as it will be necessary for fare on the railroads, to procure excursion tickets before leaving their homes for Harrisburg. The committee of arrangements will secure orders for tickets for all who notify them in time to do so and forward them.

Places of entertainment will be provided for all who give due notice of their coming.

T. H. ROBINSON, Chairman.
J. M. SAYFORD, Secretary.

BOALSBURG ACADEMY.—The people of Boalsburg can, and do boast of one of the best schools in this country—G. W. Leisher, Principal. The building is large and commodious, and Prof. Leisher has established for the school an enviable reputation. His efforts are appreciated, and the people of Boalsburg and vicinity realize the great advantages and blessings derived from a first-class school at home, where their children may be thoroughly educated and at the same time under the watchful care of the parent.

There is a choice Library in connection with this Academy, for the use of the students as well as for every person who may desire to use it without abusing. For the benefit of this Library, A. B. Hutchison, Esq., will lecture before the Boalsburg Phrenokosmian Literary Society, on Friday evening, May 13th. Subject: "Robert Burns." Tickets will be provided by the Committee at all convenient places. Admission 25 cents.—Reserved Seats 50 cents.

PRESENTATION.—On last Saturday evening we were invited to proceed to the dwelling of Capt. W. W. Potter, and witness the presentation of the beautiful gold-headed cane which had been purchased by the Good Templars, and voted by the citizens of this town, to Captain Potter. We of course accepted the invitation. When we, in company with several other gentlemen, were comfortably seated, a committed appointed by the Bellefonte Lodge, No. 196, to wit: W. H. H. Brainerd, Jos. W. Furey and Miss Beckie McGinley, represented by Mr. Brainerd appeared, who called upon J. H. Rankin, Esq., to present the cane to Capt Potter. Mr. Rankin took the beautiful cane in his hand and proceeded to speak, as nearly as we can remember, as follows:

Capt. Potter—We appear at your home which to you should be, and we have no doubt is, the dearest place on earth—as the Representatives of Bellefonte Lodge, No. 196 I. O. of G. T., whose mission is to do good everywhere and to all men, indeed the heart of each individual member should be like the rock at Horeb when touched by the magic rod of Moses, it should ever gush out with streams of refreshment to the weary, the thirsty and the dying. We cannot add to the already abundant comforts which surround your home; but we bring food for thought—imperishable food—if at all time deserving, it will sustain you on your journey through life.

They have thought proper to make themselves the medium through which the citizens of this community could express, by ballot, who should be the recipient of a testimonial of merit. This election has been held, and you, sir, designated as the worthiest of the worthy, and "thus shall it be done unto the man whom the people delight to honor."

Don't be alarmed, Capt. Some have been caned for their bad deeds—we are instructed to cane you for your good deeds, and as you may be aware, there is a slight difference in the ceremony.

Accept then, Sir, this cane as a testimonial of the high respect and esteem entertained for you by this Order, as well as by your fellow-citizens; of their appreciation of your courtesy and faithfulness in the discharge of your official duties. This, Sir, is above all pecuniary rewards. The highest, best gifts to our fellow-man, are testimonials like unto this. Continue to merit them through life, and the end will prove the full fruition of your highest hopes and aspirations.

After Mr. Rankin, had finished his speech and placed the cane in the hand of Capt. Potter, the Capt. turned to Wm. P. Wilson, Esq., reached him the cane and requested him to speak for him It of course took Mr. Wilson, by surprise as he was there simply to witness the presentation, with no preparation or expectation of making a speech. But he could not refuse the request of so true a man as Capt. Potter, and he spoke about as follows.

Mr. Rankin, representative on the part of the Good Templars. I have no studied speech for Capt Potter, on this occasion and especially after the dignified and complimentary remarks made by you Sir, in behalf of the Good Templars of this town.

I accept the beautiful present on behalf of Capt. Potter, and tender to the Good templars, through you his grateful and heartfelt thanks, for this cane and also for the complimentary manner you have seen proper to speak of him on this interesting occasion.

Capt. Potter, was born and raised in this County and for many years has been a resident of this town. You have all known him long and known him well, and he can but feel proud of the honor that has thus been conferred upon him by his neighbors and his friends.

The proceeds of this cane are to be appropriated to aid and assist your order in defraying the expenses, which you necessarily incur in holding up and promoting the great and good cause of temperance. That he has been the instrument in your hands of aiding and assisting the cause of humanity and temperance, is now and ever will be to him a source of sincere gratification and happiness. He will ever hold in grateful remembrance those who have conferred upon him this marked distinction, and this beautiful cane will be to him a staff to lean upon as he travels down the hill of life

You will, therefor, please to convey to your Order his kindest and best wishes for the success of the cause in which you are so zealously engaged, and may you go on in the good work, until a glorious success shall have crowned your praise worthy efforts, until there shall be no drunkenness, no misery, no crime, no heart broken wives or suffering starving children throughout the broad domain of our free and glorious country.

At the close of the remarks of Mr. Wilson Capt. Potter and his amiable lady assisted by Mr. & Mrs. Roland Curtin, and Mrs. Geo. Jackson made the whole company feel how good and how pleasant it is to meet together in friendship unity and peace, by a rich supply of elegant fruit pound and other cakes together with lemonade.

GREAT EXCITEMENT.—The best troop of Theatrical performers that have ever visited our fun loving town is the "Grand Constellation" of Messrs France and Lannier on their third annual tour. It was lucky for the theater going people that in making that tour they came this way. It is a rare treat to here them.—Something that one hears and sees, generally, but once in lifetime,

They performed on Monday and Tuesday evenings in Reynolds Hall to a full house each evening, and still the interest does not lag. They perform again to night which is positively their last with us. This evening May 4th will be presented, for the first time in this place the startling Drama in five acts entitled "After Dark or life and love in these times". We bespeak for them a large audience, just such a one as our town can assemble to here something amusing and beneficial and at the same time chaste and refined.

THE Jacksonville Hotel is now and has been under the charge of Mr. Joel Kling, Jr., who is a kind and efficient landlord. Guests will find his bar supplied with the best brands of liquors the country affords.

His table supplied with the best of victuals prepared in a very good style. Travelers will find excellent stabling accommodations connected with the hotel.

WHAT D. G. Bush is to Bellefonte, Samuel Aley is to Jacksonville—a good enterprising man, one that goes in for improvement to make the place present a good appearance. Such men are worth their weight in gold to any town or community

W. H. WHALEY, ESQ., one of the editors of the Clinton Democrat, which by the way, barring its politics, is a first rate paper, paid our sanctum a pop visit last week. We were very favorably impressed with the gentleman, and the following notice of our town, showing his appreciation thereof, we clip from the last number of the Democrat:

TO BELLEFONTE.

On Tuesday afternoon we had the pleasure of being one of a social party that visited Bellefonte in company with G. O. Deise, Esq., who lectured there on that evening for the benefit of Good Templar Lodge. The day was one of spring's beliest. Old Sol was gilding the face of young spring with his sunniest looks, there was "splendor in the beam, health in the gale, and freshness in the stream." All of which had a most exhilerating influence, that made the ride up the valley a decidedly pleasant one. Arriving in due time at Bellefonte, our party disposed themselves around town, while we were kindly taken charge of by our genial friends Meek and Furey of the Watchman and taken around to see the town, this being our first visit to the place. It is a hilly place, I am sure, for I walked over it. If any one doubts it, let him try it, and unless he is in mighty good trim his legs will bear trembling testimony to the fact that it is so. It beats all the places for hills. We thought of Rome that ——"Sat upon her seven hills.

And from her throne of beauty ruled the world."

But Bellefonte did not quite come up to our ideas of Rome, yet if setting on hills prognosticates great power, Bellefonte will hatch out a glorious future. But however trying this hilliness may be to an untrained visitor, no one who has a taste for the picturesque can visit Bellefonte without being struck with its decidedly romantic location. No matter what influence this may have on young ladies and gentlemen as they "by moonlight alone" breathe the tender tale whilst strolling along the banks of her gurgling crystal stream, there are evidences of thrift and industry there which show a spirit of enterprise and progress that gives promise of a lasting prosperity to the place. We are told that it has very much increased in the last few years The buildings are mostly new. The hotels are commodious, finely finished, and well kept. The buildings generally are built to last, being composed of brick or stone. They are building two very fine churches that will reflect in a high degree the liberality and refined taste of her citizens, while on Lynn street and up Allegheny street are some of the finest and most tasteful private residences in this section, which indicate much wealth and highly cultivated taste Mr. Meek has about the greatest and most complete inland printing office we have ever seen. Its machinery is run by water power, his office being situated on Spring Creek. The town is supplied with water from a very large spring, which forces its water up 200 feet to the top of a hill in its rear, where it is collected in reservoirs which feed the town—one for the plugs and the other for dwellings. Altogether, we were very favorably impressed with Bellefonte during our brief visit. It is a vigorous young town, containing manufacturing interests that give permanency to its improvements and population, while its churches, dwellings, stores and hotels give unerring marks of refinement, wealth and industry.

The lecture came off all right. There was a full house, and Mr. Deise acquitted himself well under the trying circumstances of his lecture. It was a review of the fashions and follies of the times in the church, state and home, in which he dove-tailed some of his amusing imitations of well-known citizens, which appeared to be taken with much relish by the parties he was imitating. We returned in the evening train, every one seemingly gratified with the visit.

COMPLETION OF THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.

GREAT RUSH TO STERNBERG'S.

Sung to the Tune of Yankee Doodle.

The Great Pacific Railroad's laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And now comple connection's made,—
An enterprising notion.

The mighty work at last is done,
So speedily and brisk, oh!
And now in ten days we can run
From here to San Francisco.

No more we take the ancient route,
The stage, a horrid slow thing;
It banged the passengers about,
And wore out all their clothing.

CHORUS, for the end of each verse:

The Great Pacific Railroad's laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And we buy clothes from A. STERNBERG,
A most delightful notion.

Through passengers by the Pacific Railroad will call at the store of A. Sternberg, before starting, and provide themselves with a complete outfit of the elegant and substantial Spring and Summer Clothing, the very best assortment of which will always be found at A. Sternberg's Store.

People who travel by other routes, and also people who, instead of traveling by any route at all, prefer to stay at home, can find the most superior and seasonable garments, for every occasion, of every variety, and at the lowest prices.

Do not fail to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere, if you do not, we are sure you will be sorry that you did not. Our goods are put down to the lowest figure. We sell whole suits, according to quality,

RANGING FROM $6.50 TO $18.00

Facts in Stock Raising.

Many farmers say it does not pay to keep stock, and in point of fact, they are very often in the right. I can hardly see how it pays to keep a wether sheep three years and six months, getting $7 for the three fleeces, and then selling them for $3. But I think it must be quite as profitable as to keep a steer the same length of time and then sell him for $50. Such a steer will eat as much as sight or ten Merino sheep. But the truth is we cannot expect to make anything by keeping stock of any kind unless we keep it well; it must be gaining all the time. If we let a machine lie idle, all that we lose is the interest on the money which it cost. But an animal cannot be idle.

It must eat every day; and it gains nothing; we lose all the food and the interest on the value of the animal machine besides. But many farmers not only keep them for weeks and months together without their gaining anything, but it not unfrequently happens that the animal actually decrease in weight. It has to live on its own flesh and fat—which is certainly a very expensive food. Even in the case of well fed pigs, which store up more flesh and fat for the food than anyother domestic animal; for every pound of flesh and fat we get in the animal, they eat about five pounds of food. They use four pounds to live on and give us one pound of flesh. And when we have got this one pound, how excessively wasteful it is to feed it to the animal and have worked over again; and yet this is precisely what thousands of farmers are doing to-day with cows, sheep and pigs. No wonder that "keeping stock does not pay." But good stock, fed liberally and with care and judgment, will pay better, all things considered, than any other branch of farming. Good meat brings a good price, and is always in demand. It is the "Scallawags" that are hard to dispose of, and always at a loss—a loss to the producer and a loss to the consumer. Those who buy such meat get little besides bones and water. The poor animals have had to live on their own fat and their nutritious juices.

The first step in keeping good stock is to make the land dry and clean. The next is to feed liberally, and this will insure good manure, and that in its turn insures good crops.

It is very well to say that a "peck of clover seed to the acre is the cheapest fertilizers," and that by its free use we can dispense with manure. I do not dispute the truth of this proposition. No one thinks more highly of clover than I do. But it only tells half the story. Clover makes good food and good manure too.—An animal will take out the food, convert it into valuable products, and leave the manure behind. Our aim should be dry, clean land, more clover and rich grass, and better stock and more and better manure.

It cannot be too often repeated, however, that the value of manure depends on the food and not on the animals. A rawboned steer, if it has the same food, will make as rich manure as the best Short-horn steer, in the herd book; and the droppings of a Merino sheep living on clover hay and oil cake are just as valuable as those from a Cotswold. But this is the point: We cannot feed clover hay and oil cake to a Merino with half the profit that we can to a Cotswold. The former is adapted to live on comparative poor food and grow slowly; the Cotswold has been bred with especial reference to rapid growth on the rich food.—So when we advocate keeping well bred stock, in order to make rich manure, we do so for the simple reason that we cannot afford to feed rich food to poor stock, and without rich food we cannot have rich manure.—American Agriculturist.

NATURAL GRASS OF CALIFORNIA.—A correspondent says there is one singular thing about the grasses of the Pacific coast. When apparently dry and useless for food, the cattle eat them greedily, and get fat on straw and stubble. The reason is they are rich in nutritious seeds, which last till late in the season. Sheep will be turned into a field with no sign of a blade of green grass, and pushing their noses down among the stubble, will eat the seeds which lay thick upon the ground. The wild oats grow on most of the hills of Central and Southern California, and are one of the best feeds for all kinds of live stock.

Albert S. Joslyn, who was sentenced to imprisonment for life for rape on an old lady in Lexington, Mass., and subsequently declared insane and moved to the Asylum at Worcester, made his escape from that place several weeks since. On Thursday he was discovered in North Woburn. He fired a pistol at the officers sent to arrest him, when he was shot by one of them, and died in a few minutes.

An immense concourse of people attended the funeral of the murdered Marsh children in Baltimore on Friday last. The funeral services were held at St. John's Catholic Church, and the children were buried in St. Patrick's graveyard. It is stated that the mother, who is now confined in the city jail, is a raving maniac.

Half the towns of Wyoming county, N. Y., are building cheese factories.

Drainage An Example.

I am often asked, "What are its advantages? Does it pay to spend twenty or thirty dollars per acre in draining?"

As to the first question, I cannot in a short letter tell its advantages, but will cite a case in point.

In the spring of 1862, Capt. Lakey, a returned whalesman, bought a farm in Marion, N. Y., paying $26 per acre. It was called the poorest farm in town, so wet in spring it could not be plowed till very late, and then it baked hard in the dry season. In order to remedy this he commenced the draining, taking the different fields in course, and doing a thorough work until the whole farm was underdrained. His neighbors ridiculed the idea saying he was burying means forever out of sight. But what was the result. His farm became the easiest to work and most productive of any in the country. He never failed of a good crop and two years after he finished the last field he sold it for $108 per acre. That farm is just as good now as then; the outlets of the drains continue to run as freely as ever, and the cold water, that has for ages chilled the soil is made to run off, letting in the warm air, thus promoting early vegatation, and also preventing bake.

Look over a field of wheat, oats or barley, in June; the course of the drains are plainly visible in streaks of rank growth immediately over the tile.

This is the advantage and is why it pays. In many fields on this farm the drains empty into wells from which the water is used for stock, wells having outlets to carry off the surplus water.

One of the nursery farms of Herendon & Jones, near Geneva, N. Y., is drained in a like manner, only the drains empty into a large reservoir or pond near the house, furnishing an abundant supply of water at all seasons of the year, also a good crop of ice in winter.

A constant flow of water runs from this pond, even during the dryest season, and when I saw it, in September, was discharging at the rate of about twenty gallons per minute.—This farm cannot be bought for $200 per acre. What would it be worth with all this water in the soil?

That under draining is of incalculable value, is an established axiom of the age. But how shall we do it? is a question asked by many, and it can only be answered by practical men through the columns of your paper, so as to reach the great mass of farmers who are to profit thereby. I have never read any work on drainage, and what I may write, at some future day will be the result of practical observation, with a hope that it may be of service to some of your many readers.—Cor. of Prairie Farmer.

Remedies For Garget.

A writer in Moor's Rural New Yorker says: "Having a fine young cow to calve shortly after, and finding that her udder was very much inflamed and caked, I concluded to try a solution of ammonia (which I always keep in the stable for abating inflamation from wounds and bruises on the horses), composed of one half to three-quarters of an ounce of muriate of ammonia to one quart of water, and although the swelling was not all gone the next morning, it was in about three days, and I think if we had washed or bathed her bag five or six times a day instead of two or three times a day, the cure would have been much sooner effected,"

Another states that two ounces of refined saltpetre dissolved in water, and given every night and morning, will effect a speedy cure of garget. I never found it necessary to give more than four doses, and have cured very bad cases. I supposed that this simple remedy was well known; but as I have not seen it published, I send it. I think it should be known to every farmer.

Another common remedy is to cut a piece of "poke root," or "scoke root," or "garget weed," thrice as large as a man's finger, into small piece, and mingle them with her slop every day.

DISAPPEARANCE OF OUR WOODS.—The present consumption of wood in the United States is enormous. One hundred and fifty thousand acres of the best timber is cut every year to supply the demand for railway sleepers alone. For railroad buildings, repairs, and cars, the annual expenditure in wood is $38,500,000. In a single year the locomotives in the United States consume $56,000,000 worth of wood. There are, in the whole country, more than 400,000 artisans in wood; and if the value of their labor is $1,000 a year each, the wood industry of the country represents an amount of nearly $5,000,000,000 per annum.

Place in two balls, rolled up in paper, one ounce saltpeter, pulverized; one ounce fine cut tobacco, one ounce Venice turpintine; mix well, and give one dose when you first come in from work, then miss a day, and give the other. If you don't find the horse better in a week, try it over again. I have known it to cure when even veterinary surgeons have failed. Keep the legs clean.

A number of families in Philadelphia have been poisoned by eating cheese bought from a peddler. The carter had been engaged by a warehouse firm to take it away and bury it' but instead of doing that, he peddled it about at cheap rates. No deaths have occurred.

PLANTATION BITTERS.
S. T.—1860—X.

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid, it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates of tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits. For sale by all druggists. v2n12-6m.

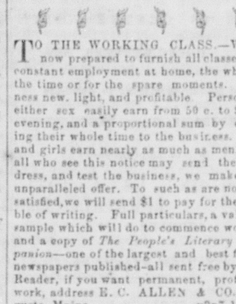
THE GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!
DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS.

MORE THAN 500,000 PERSONS Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,



Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits, and Refuse Liquors, doctored spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true medicine made from the native Roots and Herbs of California free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the Great Blood Purifier and Life Giving Principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator, of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell.

$100 will be given for an incurable case provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, and Gout, Dyspepsia, or Indigestion Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

Clean the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE, and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed.

In Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, these Bitters have no equal. For full directions read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French, and Spanish.
